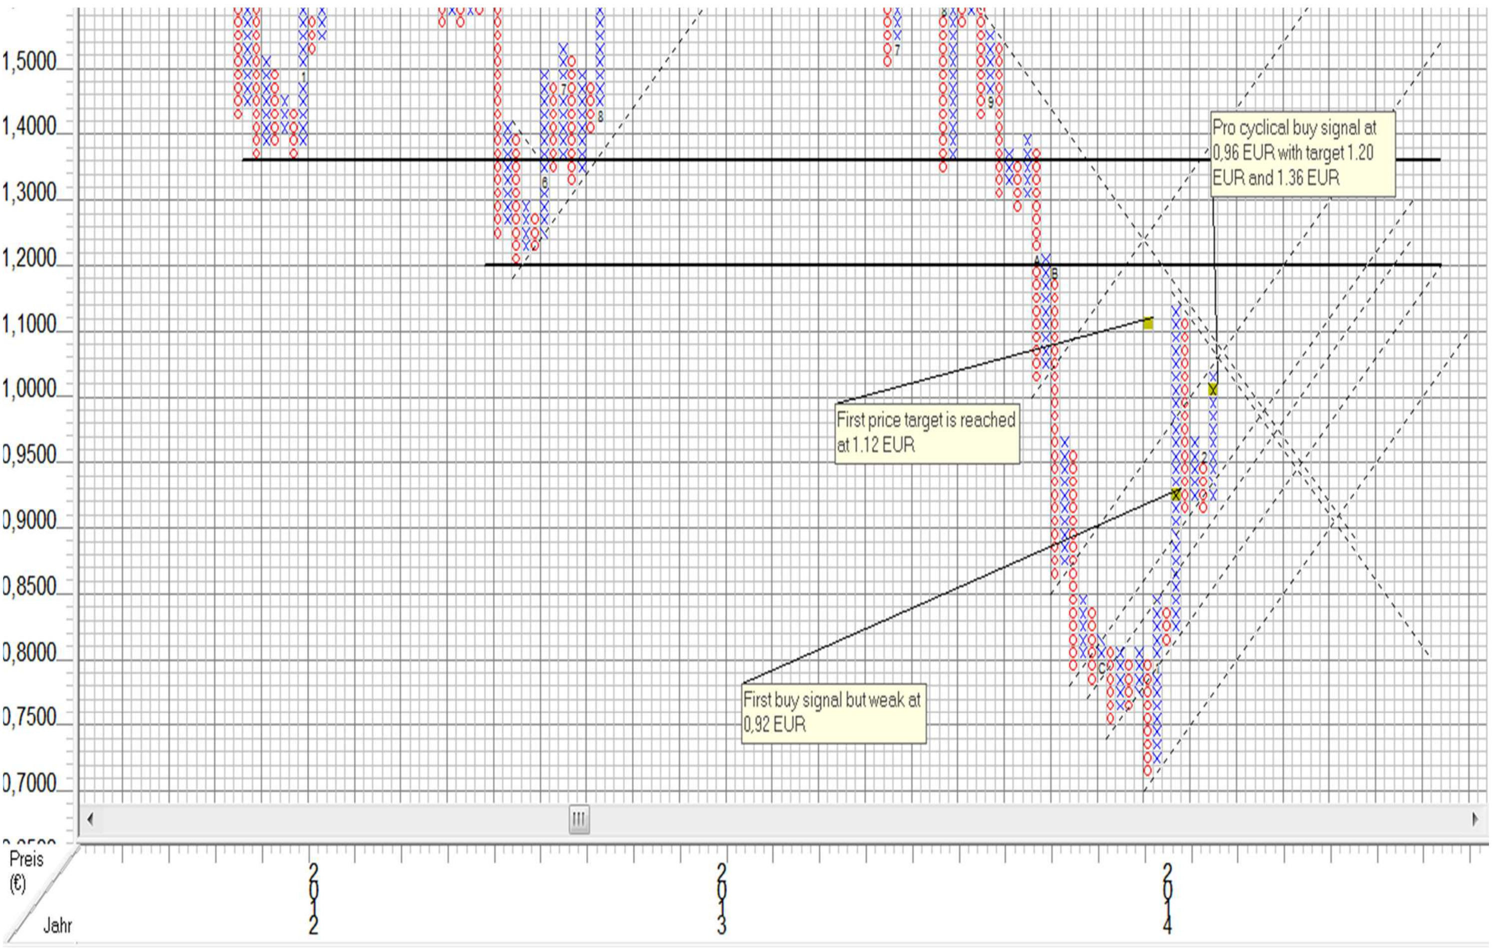
Chart Research for Timmins Gold - Point & Figure Analysis, 11th February 2014

Dear Reader,

Timmins Gold looks now like a strong recovery. They already had a weak buy signal at 0.92 EUR with a generated target of 1.12 EUR. Now it looks like that they restart and generated a pro-cyclical buy signal at 0.96 EUR (1.44 CAD) with a first target at 1.20 EUR (1.80 CAD) and a second target at 1.36 EUR (2,04 CAD). Timmins Gold shares and the chart look better now after the turn around in the light of strong gold prices today ready to generate a buy signal for gold at 1.291 USD/ounce too.

(TSX: TMM,NYSE: TGD, Frankfurt: ISINCA88741P1036, calculated exchange rate 1EUR = 1,50 CAD)



Best Regards,
Jochen Staiger

Risk note: This is a personal estimate and is not a recommendation to buy or sell. It is an independent information and thinking and the reader is cautioned not to rely any decisions on this chart analysis nor the explanation. Before you do anything, please contact always a trusted person and your advisor.

"New ways of Communication and Financing is our mission – Transparency, Quality and Education our booster!"

www.resource-capital.ch